Hi Liz - I hope you're having a good weekend. Sorry in advance to ruin it.

Eric Lipton (copied above) and I are working on a story for tomorrow based on the latest FOIA releases of Mr. Pruitt's calendar. We have a couple big picture questions for you and would like to confirm with you that a number of the meetings reflected on his calendar, which we will reference in the story, did in fact take place.

Our deadline is noon tomorrow (Monday, Oct. 2).

Thanks so much - questions and meetings to confirm are below. If you want to talk directly, my cell is Ex. 6 Personal Privacy (PP)

Best,
Lisa

1. On Mr. Pruitt's schedule overall, what is the reason for the large number of meetings with CEOs of companies and industry associations who are regulated by the EPA?
2. Is it appropriate for Mr. Pruitt to be spending such a large amount of time, in private settings, meeting with senior industry executives and lobbyists, from the same industry sectors that he has pending decisions before him, related to items like clean power plan, waters of the United States, pesticide regulations, TSCA, CAFE standards and other issues.

3. Does the extensive number of such meetings create an institutional bias for Mr. Pruitt's that favors industry arguments.

4. We count almost no meetings with consumer advocates, public health groups or environmental groups other than the American Academy of Pediatrics, Trout Unlimited and C2ES. Are there others that you'd like to point out? Can you speak to why his schedule reflects so few meetings with public interest, consumer and environmental groups?

5. Circling back to Mr Pruitt's trips home to Oklahoma... It appears from his schedule that there were no events on Friday, May 19 and one tour of a chemical company on May 20. Can you tell me how many hours that tour lasted? Were there any other events not reflected in the calendar for that trip?

6. During a visit to Oklahoma on Friday, May 5, 2017, records show that Mr. Pruitt had a one-hour lunch meeting with an executive from the National Rural Water Association; Tulsa, OK. Was this an appropriate justification for a government financed trip to Oklahoma.

7. A travel voucher, page 7 see attached, says this: "The Administrator will be traveling to Pittsburgh to participate in Tour of Harvey Mine, participate a in press conference with the Mine leadership then to Tulsa to conduct meetings in the state and to serve as a keynote speaker for ALEC event; then to Chicago to visit a Superfund site in East Chicago IL; then to Columbia, MO to visit Thomas Hill Electric and to meet with the Governor; then to Tulsa to meet for meetings in the state; then to Dallas for Earth Day; then to Naples tn serve as key"
Can you confirm that the meeting in Oklahoma where Mr. Pruitt served as the keynote speaker for ALEC event occurred. .

8. We have copies of two sets of travel voucher releases for Mr. Pruitt, both attached. Have others been released by the agency since January and if so, can you please provide us with a copy of those.

9. Here's a list of the meetings of which we make note in the story. Again, if one of these did not occur as it is listed in the calendars, please let us know.

On-The-Record statement for your story: "In an attempt to sensationalize for clicks, The New York Times is taking recycling to a new level, as the Times is reusing old stories from The Washington Post, your newspaper, E&E News and other outlets to smear our country's EPA Administrator." – EPA spokeswoman, Liz Bowman

1. On Mr. Pruitt's schedule overall, what is the reason for the large number of meetings with CEOs of companies and industry associations who are regulated by the EPA?

- <!--[if !supportLists]--><!--[endif]-->We will refer you to our statement in the Washington Post: "As EPA has been the poster child for regulatory overreach, the Agency is now meeting with those ignored by the Obama Administration," EPA spokeswoman Liz Bowman said in an email Friday. "As we return EPA to its core mission, Administrator Pruitt is leading the Agency through process, the rule of law and cooperative federalism." (The Washington Post, 09/23/17)

2. Is it appropriate for Mr. Pruitt to be spending such a large amount of time, in private settings, meeting with senior industry executives and lobbyists, from the same industry sectors that he has pending decisions before him, related to items like clean power plan, waters of the United States, pesticide regulations, TSCA, CAFE standards and other issues.

- <!--[if !supportLists]--><!--[endif]-->Also if you're hoping your readers don't remember you story from February, you can might want to copy-and-paste from your previous story titled: “The Pruitt Emails: E.P.A. Chief Was Arm in Arm With Industry.” (The New York Times, 02/22/17)

3. Does the extensive number of such meetings create an institutional bias for Mr. Pruitt's that favors industry arguments.

- <!--[if !supportLists]--><!--[endif]-->On-The-Record Statement: “No. EPA, DOJ and the State of Colorado sued PDC Energy for alleged Clean Air Act violations.” – EPA spokeswoman, Liz Bowman
- <!--[if !supportLists]--><!--[endif]-->On-The-Record Statement: “Violations of environmental law will be pursued and punished,” said Environmental Protection Agency Administrator Scott Pruitt. “We will work with our federal, state and local partners to punish those that violate the laws to the detriment of human health and the environment.” (Press Release, 06/26/17)
- <!--[if !supportLists]--><!--[endif]-->“The Trump administration and the state of Colorado sued PDC Energy Inc on Monday, claiming the company violated the federal Clean Air Act by allowing unlawful emissions from storage tanks. The lawsuit, filed in U.S. District Court in Colorado by the Department of Justice, Environmental Protection Agency and the state, seeks civil penalties and a court order barring the damaging release of so-called volatile organic compounds.” (Reuters, 06/26/17)

4. We count almost no meetings with consumer advocates, public health groups or environmental groups other than the American Academy of Pediatrics, Trout Unlimited and C2ES. Are there others that you'd like to point out? Can you speak to why his schedule reflects so few meetings with public interest, consumer and environmental groups?

- <!--[if !supportLists]--><!--[endif]-->We are referring you to the on-the-record response that was reported in The Hill: “Each meeting, phone call or discussion that the administrator has is focused on the Agency’s work to employ a positive environmental agenda. The administrator and his staff have discussions daily with our country’s businesses, as well as Democrat and Republican government leaders about how we can work together as a country to achieve clean air, land and water.” – EPA spokeswoman, Liz Bowman (The Hill, 06/16/17)
- <!--[if !supportLists]--><!--[endif]-->On-The-Record, response: “Below is a list of environmental groups that we have met with: The Nature Conservancy. Audubon Society. American Lung Association. American Public Health Association. American Academy of Pediatrics. March of Dimes. Alliance of Nurses for Healthy Environments. Physicians for Social Responsibility. Trust for America’s Health. National Medical Association. Asthma and Allergy Foundation of America. National Environmental Health Association. NYU School of Medicine. National Association of Environmental Medicine.
